Fall of 1887.

Our stock of Mens' Boys' and Youths' Suits. Overcoats, Underwear. Gloves and Mittens is complete. We have Boots and Shoes in endless variety.

Winter, 1887.

We shall have Robes, Fur Caps, Fur Collars and Cuffs, Japanese Wolf Robes, Horse Blankets, Halters, Circingles, Rubber Boots, overshoes, and nearly everything to keep the people warm and dry.

Spring of 1888.

We shall commence the season first by taking account of Stock and marking winter goods at less than cost. Then our new stock will be sold at a small profit, and will consist of good goods.

Summer of 1888.

We shall open the season with everything needed to keep cool, such as Hammocks, Seersucker Coats and Vests, and the World-renowned Cork Hat, which we hope will go faster than the celebrated cork leg. Prices rule low during this season, as usual.

Fall of 1888.

Shall advertise with "Doc," which we will tell you about when the time comes.

To the Generous Public :

After 36 years we return thanks for the patronage we have received. If we live we shall continue business, and we shall endeavor to keep our competitors alive to keep up with us. Our stock is large; the goods as represented, and will be sold low. We have every kind of competition to stand. Our sales have been large so far during the year, and small profits will be the rule for the year 1888. Again thanking you, we remain,

Yours Truly,
